The S-I-S BOOM

JUNE, 1929

PUBLIC LIBRARIES OF SAGINAW

Friends:

This final issue of The S-I-S Boom is sincerely dedicated to the students and faculty of this school. Let us pause for a moment here to give recognition and thanks to those who have made its production possible.

THE STUDENTS, for their hearty subscription and support.

MR. NORTON AND THE PRINTING CLASSES, for their untiring efforts in making the book attractive.

THE ART DEPARTMENT; MISS ZUBLER for her contribution to the beauty of the paper.

THE ENGLISH DEPARTMENT AND MISS FOSS, for composition, judging, and proof reading.

THE STAFF, for everything.

I submit their work for your approval,

EMERY LEHAN

THE FACULTY

Retrospect

Well, folks, here I am, the newest member of the S-I-S Boom family, but honest, I'm not at all a chip off the old block. In fact, I'm quite different from last year's issue. Just compare us and you'll see.

South School opened in 1922, but the first annual was not published until 1927, and in the course of each year we have grown better and better in every way. Of course, I intend to be the best of them all. I think I have more than ever the things that you would like to see on my pages.

You'll find when you open me just as much vim and vinegar as there is in our school. Believe me, these South School students have it, too. And some day in the distant future when you are looking thru the keedsakes of your school days, I hope you will come across me and spend a few pleasant moments scanning the faces of your old friends, some of them perhaps, half forgotten in the years since you were comrades at South. Once more you can revive that old spirit of "Service, Industry, and Sportsmanship" that always prevailed over our lives and over our school.

Goodbye to Mr. Brock

It is with the keenest regret that we say goodbye to Mr. Brock, our principal, who is leaving us to become principal of the Arthur Hill High School. During the three and a half years he has been here, South School has grown up, and to use Mr. Brock's own expression, has become "the finest school in the world at any price."

The Color Play

Among the many interesting things accomplished by the art department during the past year was "The Color Play," which was written and presented by the students themselves.

The music was furnished by the "Said-In-Song" girls, and the chief characters were Ruth Schultz, Elaine Willemin, Helen Schomaker, and Frieda Richards. The plot of the play centers around Jean, who has had great difficulty in learning some of the color combinations. One day she falls asleep at her easel, and in her dream the color fairies come to her rescue. In their gorgeously colored costumes, they provide many lovely scenes, and at the same time teach us facts about color combinations.

Art Dept. Wins Prizes

Even though it may not be necessary, I will remind you of the outstanding artists of our school. They are Ruth Schultz, William Mattes, and Harry Bartlett.

William Mattes won second prize of three dollars in the Saginaw Visiting Nurse Poster Contest, and third in Women's Hospital Baby Show Poster prize. Ruth Schultz won third prize of one dollar and first and second prices at the Local Art Exhibit given by the Women's Club. Harry Bartlett won first prize for the Welfare Poster Contest. —Rosalie Schleicher

9A Class Officers

Howard Ducharme . . . . President
Lorna Schemm . . . . Vice President
Thomas Smith . Secretary and Treasurer
Mr. Trippensee . . . . Faculty Advisor

9A Class Calendar

January

We become 9A's.

It isn't every class that is fortunate enough to have an advisor like Mr. Trippensee. January was almost gone when we arrived in this class, so we will go to

February

This is the life! There is any amount of dignity connected with our present position, and maybe you think the rest of the kids don't look up to us.

Lorna Schemm, 9A4, has her name engraved on the Scholarship Cup.

Book reports are the only blot on the perfection of our days.

March

Fair and warmer.

The cast for the 9A play, called "Oh, Kay!" has been choosen. Smiles and tears result. Gee, we can't all be John Barrymores.

Howard Ducharme, Lorna Schemm, and Thomas Smith are elected 9A officers. No comment necessary.

Hurray! Spring vacation is here. Did I say fair and warmer? I must have forgotten a small item like a sleet storm.

A Class History

Apologies to Edgar Allen Poe

Quite distinctly, we remember,
When the South School we did enter,
And we were but humble members
Of the sixth grade class of yore.
Frequently we tried to borrow,
Knowledge, for some class tomorrow,
Hard earned knowledge from some classmate,
Who had helped us oft before,
Who had loaned us his assistance,
Many, many times before,
"Yes," we'd whisper. "Just once more."

See us then in the seventh grade seated,
All our sixth grade year completed,
But with all the brand new problems
We had never seen before.
Long we've sat there, madly yearning,
All our souls within us burning,
Working problems which were fatal
To many students oft before.
How we long to look back thinking
They will bother us no more,
Free from care, forever more.

But in the eighth grade we grew jolly,
Studying seemed to us mere folly,
We did bluff through half our lessons,
The other half, we bluffed some more.
We could face an angry teacher,
With our calm and unmoved features,
Imitating the dear Seniors,
Whom we'd envied o'er and o'er.

Advice at Fifteen

to an Imaginary Son of Twelve

Life for you during the next three years will be, or ought to be, the big adventure. I know. The halls of temporary darkness through which you will pass are springboards toward moments of marvelous accomplishmments. I know. If you are foolish, that is unfortunate but expected; if you don't wash your ears, you will probably have your bicycle stolen, but time usually cures the first of these and always the second; however, the unpardonable sin during these three years is to flunk algebra. I know - - - -

Your South School education should teach you two things: first, that nobody knows anything; second, that Spearmint gum isn't all it's cracked up to be.

Neither are paper torpedoes.

Be honorable in small things. A boy who would cheat in a game is a cad, but a boy who wouldn't cheat to win his best girl is a fool.

Be generous in your judgment of cross teachers. Think how fiercely it must pain them to think of the fact of your being only twelve and their being sixty.

Don't forget all this.

—Thomas Watson Smith

April

Good weather for ducks, and all we get is flat noses from staring out the window at the rain. Saw Edwina Wright and Mary Martin go wading in the lake in somebody's back yard. Kids will be kids.

The 9A2's put on a good assembly program with the help of Mr. Trippense. Plays, music, jokes, everything.

May

Rain and baseball. Some team those girls have.

Maybe we'll all take time off from the season's games to get ready for the pageant. Shades of Sitting Bull and Standing Pat!

June

It's all over but the shouting. Class play, banquet, new caps, 9A assembly, report cards, good-byes—

Good-bye!

A Class History

If we were but grand old Seniors,
We could wish for nothing more,
Only that, and nothing more.

But the years in their rotation,
Ending South School education,
Brings the longed for graduation
Dreamed of oft and oft before.
Still high school is just before us,
And its rule is quickly o'er us.
Fervently, we ask remembrance,
Underclassmen, evermore.
To you we give our heart's best wishes
Now and ever, evermore,
Yes, forevermore.

Home Work

The sofa sagged in the middle,
The shades were pulled just so,
The family had retired,
And the evening lamp burned low.
There came a sound from the sofa,
The clock was striking two,
Lloyd Lemmer slammed his text book with a thankful,
'Well, I'm through."

To the 8A's

Alegbra is a puzzling thing
For anyone who takes it.
So I suggest when you begin,
Make up your mind, "I'll pass it."

Last Will and Testament

Class of '29

The 9A Class bequeaths:

The stretch of hall from the boy's gymnasium to the office, for use as a parking space and for the making of dates, to the 9B's.

Katherine Kamfert's "not tardy" ticket, which she uses so diligently, to Helen Griffith.

John Tallon's red suspenders to Harold Hahn, but earnestly requests him also to wear a belt.

Elmer Hammerschmidt's famous saying, "Get off the grass" to George Griffin.

Louise Yahrmarkt's red hair to anybody in exchange for blond curls.

Ruth Hoffman's place on the cot in the girls' gym to Frances Hall.

Rose Miller's cute "I don't know" to Ruth Greenwood and hopes she will make use of it.

Fifty pounds of Ella Schneider's weight to Helen Buffington.

Evelyn De Rosier's spike heeled slippers to Jane Hatton to help her see above the others.

Vera Bishop's flighty air to Frieda Lambel.

Pauline Beisel's love for school to Katherine Dunlap.

Clarence Kackmeister's "hot sweater" to Charles Nash and hopes it will improve his looks as much as it did Clarence's.

Beatrice Osterbeck's fine clothes and good looks to Pauline Schell.

Lydia Klippert's dancing ability to Elaine Willemin.

Bernetta DeShone's Buick to 9B's in case they wish to join the tin can alley parade.

To Mr. Trippensee "A new Ford with all proceeds."

Virginia Hance's gym shoes, assorted colors, to Martha Stricker.

Peter Krauchenko's ability to flatter the girls and his famous collection of scarfs to Norman Lehnhardt.

Eva Loeblein's abbreviated figure to Gladys Cummings.

The curl in Katherine Elliott's brain to George Goddard.

Isabel Pateman's Australian temper to Arlene Remer.

Kenneth Cuthbertson's front teeth, recently removed, to Raymond Leacher.

Lawrence Welsh's green "whoopee hat" to Carl Giessel.

Amelia Krause's permanent wave to Gilbert Norton.

Ruth Hurst's monitor badge to Maud Broaddus and hopes she will not miss one of the biggest shows in the world for a dime.

Carsten Ziemer's talking ability to Charlotte Greenwald.

Elmer Bellinger's fishing tackle to Edward Butterfield.

Mattie Jakes' winning ways to Aldora Dolfi.

William Peterson's hall romance to Charlotte Markey.

The mice tracks in Dorthea Wagner's locker to the next who occupies it.

Helen Schomaker's stunning dimples to Helen Pohlman.

Juliette Kinville's complexion to Ruth Marienthol.

To Miss Foss memories of happy days.

9A Class Memories

Just as the night is falling,
As the evening sun goes down,
It seems that the night is bewitching
For a spell is cast o'er the town.

It is then that I sit and ponder
On the days that I love to recall,
For they bring to my mind a vision
Of days that are dear to us all.

I hear Virginia's giggle.
It resounds through every hall,
And Carsten's constant talking
That so often involved us all.

They say that clothes will make the man.
We believe it now, we do,
For oh, those clothes that Lawrence wears,
They're yellow, red, and blue.

Science was our main profession,
Latin we all liked to do,
But algebra was a puzzle
With its x and y and q.

Demure and quiet was Mary,
Cosmetics she never knew.
But when in the hall she'd tarry
For Gerald, her cheeks would redder glow.

Then as the shadows darken
And the fire lights dimmer grow
The streets are left deserted
The fire burns down low.

It's then that the stars start twinkling,
In the heavens high above,
And I'm left alone with a memory
Of a scene I'll always love.

7A CLASS

9B Class

Eighth Grade

Center group, page thirteen, is the 8A class. Lower group is the 8B's. Miss Benjamin is the advisor. For officers the 8A's elected Joseph Deike president, Russell Staffeld vice president, and Bobbie Gillespie secretary and treasurer. The 8B's chose for their officers Regina O'Polka, president, Harley Collier, vice president, and Edward Krause, secretary and treasurer.

Seventh Grade

Mrs. Davis assumes the care of the seventh graders, but she seems to enjoy them as much as they do her. Some of the students have made enviable records this year, especially in English and arithmetic. These people were mentioned as being outstanding: Harold Gunther, Lulu Streeter, Kathryn Kanary, Carroll Golden, Joe Feith, Leonard Luzinsky, Phillip Schadt, Egnas Murin, Dorothy Heimburger, and Doretta Law.

7A officers are Allen Roeser, Jack Alderton, and Orville Dunlap. 7B officers are Carroll Golden, Dorothy Aurenz, and Evelyn Kirstowsky.

7B CLASS

SIXTH GRADE

Sixth Grade

At the top of this page you see the sixth grade and their advisor, Miss Williams. The 6A's have for their officers Harold Martin for president, Alex Meyer for vice president, and Donna Rose for secretary and treasurer. The 6B's are governed by Doris Whaley, president, Harold Salt, vice-president, and Arthur Pfeuffer, secretary and treasurer.

The most outstanding event of the year for this group is the establishment of a sixth grade assembly, and it must be a good one from the happy looks on their faces as they come from the auditorium.

Elementary Department

With the departure of the County Normal, there came a big change in the organization of our school. It was the addition of the five elementary grades, and it brought an addition not only of some two hundred children but of five extra teachers.

A short time ago, the fifth grade wrote and presented a four act play entitled "Robin Hood", which was presented in the sixth grade assembly. Ellen Mc Donald took the part of Robin Hood, Lorain Zorn was the Chief Forrester, Helen Butzin was Little John, and the rest of the class took minor parts.

Some students graduate from school, others out of school.

THE BAND

Band and Orchestra

Have you noticed what a fine piece of work the band and orchestra have been doing during the past year?

Our band numbers thirty-three, and our first and second orchestras each have thirty members. Mr. Johnson, our teacher of instrumental music, is responsible for the organization of these groups, and to him goes the credit for their success.

The orchestra has appeared in public several times; at the Stone School, at P. T. A. meeting, at the 9A plays, in assembly, and at the City Auditorium. Joseph Dieke was given the high honor of being concert maestro, most highly honored person next to the conductor.

—Rosalie Schleicher

The Girls' Choruses

This has been a very successful year for the girls' choruses of which there are two, "The Junior High Girls," and "The Nightingales."

The first of these gave two delightful operettas, " The Nifty Shop," and "Lady Frances," they sang for the P. T. A. meeting, gave several numbers in assembly, and sang "The Childhood of Hiawatha" in the junior high program at the City Auditorium.

The "Nightingales" also have a splendid program to their credit. They presented a Christmas cantata, "The Wonderous Story" and the opera "A Box of Dolls" to the assembly, and they sang in the sixth grade chorus at the City Auditorium.

Third Row: Earl Boissoneault, John Tallon, Howard Ducharme, Warren Marks, George Bolger. Fourth: August Salwasser.

The soccer team finished a very successful season without a single defeat. There were some close, exciting games that made the boys work for their victories. The team as a whole were rather small, but they had the courage and ability to play winning games.

A Texas Leaguer

"Johnson, batter!" Roy steps to the plate as if he is a little nervous. As we all know, Roy is from the Pacific Coast League, and he has batted close to 500. He tips his cap to shade his eyes from the sun, and sees that the bases are loaded with Phillips, the catcher, on first, Uhle on second, and Schuble on third. There are two gone.

McManus bunts and is thrown out at first. "Big Alex" accounts for the second out when he grounds out to short stop.

"Ball, outside!" yells the umpire. "Ball two!"

I guess the pitcher is getting nervous with these three men on base.

"Ball three!"

The crowd is yelling for a home run. Just listen to them. Strike! A beautiful ball cuts right over the heart of the plate. What? A second strike is called on Roy. That's enough for him. He steps out of the batter's box, and rubs his hands in the sand so he can hold the bat firmly for the next pitch.

Girls' Athletics

South school girls kept the slate clean for another year, winning the city championship in both volley ball and baseball. The girls have established an enviable record for themselves and for the school. They deserve much credit for their ability and sportsmanship. Members of baseball team are: Elizabath Haar, Capt. 1st base; Aldora Dolfi, catcher; Dorothy Breussow, pitcher; Florence Lapinsky, 2nd base; Alice Jones, 3rd base; Thelma Pocquette, short stop; Alice Schotts, r. field; Katherine Miller, c. field; Marguerite Schaper, l. field.

It's All in the State of Mind

If you think you are beaten, you are.
If you think you dare not, you don't.
If you think you'd like to win but you think you can't,
It's almost a cinch you won't.
For out in the world you'll find
Success begins with a fellow's willingness,
It's all in the state of mind.

Full many a race is lost
Ere even a step is run,
And many a coward fails
Ere even his work's begun,
Think big and your deeds will grow
Think small and you'll fall behind.
Think that you can and you will,
It's all in the state of mind.

If you think you're outclassed, you are.
You've got to think high to rise.
You've got to be sure of yourself before
You can ever win a prize.
Life's battles don't always go
To the stronger or faster man,
But soon or later the man who wins
Is the fellow who thinks he can.

Hero!—by accident

As a boy I lived in the foothills of the Adirondack Mountains. Many were the stories of panthers I heard recited around our evening fire. Occasionally we would hear from the forest a piercing shriek which we all believed to be the voice of the dreaded raider.

One night the shriek sounded nearer than usual.

I looked at my brother Tom with eyes agonized with fright.

"Tom, is it t-t-the panther?"

Tom motioned me to be quiet. He stepped to the door. Opening it a crack, he peered cautiously out into the inky black darkness of night. Suddenly his face grew frightened. He closed the door quickly with a hand shaking with fright. He was only twelve years old and I eight. Nevertheless he had been taught to protect himself, by a father born and raised in fear of the forest's terrors.

He had but one weapon, a large gun which was placed as a decoration over the mantle. Neither knew how to use it.

"Jim", half wispered Tom, "stay here until I come. Keep cool. Use your head. I'm going after Mr. Mason."

Silently but swiftly he moved out of the door leaving me to my own resources.

Suddenly the room grew dark. The fire was out. I, trembling with fear, could hear the soft cushion like tread of the beast on the brush and leaves outside. I took the gun from the mantle and hurried into the only other room.

The panther was on the steps,—in the room. I could hear him prowling about the room, his eyes shining like lanterns. He hesitated, then came toward my room.

I pointed my gun with trembling, uncertain fingers. My courage would hold out no longer. Throwing the gun in the general direction of my foe, I dropped to the floor.

There was a terrific bang. What was it? The gun? No, it couldn't be. Rising on one elbow I peered. There lay the panther. The gun had gone off of its own accord with the fall. The beast was dead. I, the coward, was a hero. A hero!!! —Cora Dewey

Don't be Hardshell

Don't worry if your job is small
And your rewards are few;
Remember that the mighty oak
Was once a nut like you.

The Great Stone Face

Rock carved by Nature
With chisel so sure,
A gift to the ages
That long will endure.
Though haggard its features
And rugged its brow
That face will teach always
As it teaches now.
"Be hopeful and loving"
Those lips seem to say
To the weary and heartless
Who pass by the way. —Cora Dewey

Autumn

Each season has its beauty
If we but learn to know
The splendor of the common things
That round about us grow.
But autumn's beauty has for me
A charm that's all its own.
The wayside things are lovelier
Than any we have known.
The year is drawing to a close,
The summer birds have flown,
We turn our hearts with thankful praise
To him who leads us home.
—David Stewart

There Are Others

If times are hard, and you feel blue,
Think of others worrying, too;
Just because your trials are many,
Don't think the rest of us haven't any.
Life is made up of smiles and tears,
Joys and sorrows, mixed with fears;
And though to us it seems one-sided,
Trouble is pretty well divided.
If we could look in every heart,
We'd find that each one has its part,
And those who travel fortune's road
Sometimes carry the biggest load.

A Texas Leaguer

I don't suppose Uhle thinks the pitcher will throw for him with two out and three and two on the batter. It would be taking a dreadful chance.

The pitcher turns toward the batter, and as quick as a flash he throws the ball to short stop who - - - - gr - r - r - eek - k - k- smash! bang! Shucks, that's always the way when you have to listen to a baseball game over the radio. —Harold Hahn

Southern Smiles

Rastus: "Here am a telegram from de boss in Africa. He says he is sending us some lions' tails."

Circus owner's wife: "Lions' tails, Rastus? What are you talking about?"

Rastus: "Well, read it yourself. It say plain: 'Just captured two lions. Sending details by mail.' "

A man who found a button in his salad remarked, with great presence of mind: "I suppose it dropped off while the salad was dressing."

"I'm going to shoot the man who married my wife."

"But that's murder, isn't it?"

"No, it's suicide."

"When I go to college," said the little high schooler, "I am going to call myself minutes, because minutes always pass."

"I know a dog worth $17,000."

"How could a dog save so much?"

"I just bought a nickel eraser."

"Oh, I should think a rubber one would be much better."

Mr. Johnson: "The next piece will be 'Hail to the Hills of Westwood.' "

Ray Pinnell: "Gee, I just finished playing that."

Sailor Ed: "How do you like life in the navy? Quite a few turns to get used to, aren't there?"

Sailor Cy: "I should say so. At night you turn in, and just as you are about to turn over somebody turns up and shouts, 'Turn out!' "

A balky mule has four wheel brakes,
A billy goat has bumpers;
The firefly is a bright spotlight,
Rabbits are puddle jumpers;
Camels have balloon tire-d feet,
And carry spares of what they eat;
But still I think that nothing beats
The kangaroos with rumble seats.

Young Sailor: "Dad, what is a heifer? Is it a swine or some sheep?"

Old Salt: "Well, boy, I must admit I don't know much about poultry."

Grin and bear it.
